PKL selects KitchenShield for temporary catering infrastructure

Sensetech Specialist Systems has begun working with PKL, a leading supplier of temporary and permanent catering infrastructure, following the selection of KitchenShield for its commercial kitchen units.

In late August, representatives from KitchenShield manufacturer Lehavot travelled to the UK to deliver specialist training to members of the PKL operations and construction team, alongside Sensetech Specialist Systems and KitchenShield installers.

Following the training 4 PKL personnel will be licensed under Sensetech Specialist Systems to maintain KitchenShield installations both at the company's Cheltenham headquarters and across units already operating in the field, with ongoing technical support from Lehavot and Sensetech.

Two KitchenShield systems have already been installed, with a further ten scheduled for installation next month.

PKL selected KitchenShield following a review of its existing assets and operational requirements. Every KitchenShield system will be installed as fully approved overlapping and with consideration given to ensure that if Salamander grills are added, the system has the capacity to be easily modified by PKL engineers to achieve appliance specific and back shelf protection meeting UL300 approval.
